Be informed

By staying connected to the right channels, you and your family can stay informed and up-to date with day-to-day city activities and with emergency information shared when disaster strikes. Be sure to keep up with information from local government and the local media. Do not rely on one method of gathering information. Stay informed by using multiple sources of information.

National Weather Services

“NOAA is an agency that enriches life through science. Our reach goes from the surface of the sun to the depths of the ocean floor as we work to keep citizens informed of the changing environment around them.

From daily weather forecasts, severe storm warnings, and climate monitoring to fisheries management, coastal restoration and supporting marine commerce, NOAA’s products and services support economic vitality and affect more than one-third of America’s gross domestic product. NOAA’s dedicated scientists use cutting-edge research and high-tech instrumentation to provide citizens, planners, emergency managers and other decision makers with reliable information they need when they need it.”

A great way to stay informed is by having NOAA Tone Alert Radio (Extra battery). The NOAA radio is programmed to sound alarms based on NOAA weather updates and can serve as a great alerting resource for households. The radios are also available with modifications to be used for people who are deaf or hard of hearing.
